23. Systems for selection of consultants.--The selection system shall be determined by the procuring entity prior to the commencement of the process of selection of prospective consultants. Procuring entity may utilize one of the following systems for selection of consultants, namely:

- (a) quality based selection (QBS),-- this system will be used for highly specialized and complex assignments, where quality is the only factor taken into consideration;
- (b) quality and cost based selection (QCBS),---this system will be used where high quality is the prime consideration while cost is a secondary consideration;
- (c) least cost,--- this system will only be used for assignments of standard or routine nature, where well established practices and standards exist;
- (d) single source or direct selection,---subject to approval by head of the procuring entity, a procuring entity may engage in single-source procurement-
 - (i) the goods, construction or services are available only from a particular contractor or supplier, or a particular contractor or supplier has exclusive rights in respect of the goods, construction or services, and no reasonable alternative or substitutes exists; or
 - (ii) the procuring entity having procured goods, equipment, technology or services from a contractor or supplier, determines that additional supplies must be procured from that supplier or contractor for reasons of standardization or because of the need for compatibility with existing goods, equipment, technology or services, taking into account the effectiveness of original procurement in meeting the needs of the procuring entity, the limited size of the proposed procurement in relation to the original procurement, the reasonableness of the price and the unsuitability of alternative to the goods or services in question; or
 - (iii) in cases of emergency;
 - (iv) for very small assignments valuing upto Rs. 500,000/-; and
 - (v) where only one consultant is qualified or has experience of exceptional worth; and
- (d) fixed budget-- this system shall be used only when the assignment is simple, can be precisely defined and when the budget is fixed. The request for proposals shall indicate the available budget. Proposals that exceed the indicated budget shall be rejected. The ranking shall be based only on evaluation of technical proposals of the qualified bidders.
